- Become much less generous
 - Become somewhat less generous
 - Remained about the same in real terms
 - Become somewhat more generous
 - Become much more generous
37. My personal feeling about tuition levels and the financial situation of our student body is that:
- It has become more and more difficult for our students to pay for college.
 - The overall financial burden of our students has not changed much in recent years.
 - Our aid programs and a strong economy have actually reduced the financial burden on our students in recent years.
38. My personal feeling is that over the next few years if we want to retain or enhance the quality of the student that we attract and maintain or increase enrollment we will have to:
- Lower tuition, increase financial aid, or both.
 - Not make any serious changes in this way.
 - We can increase tuition and still attract the same quality and number of students.
39. If your college has had some success in training the college staff and instructors in retention issues, briefly explain what you have done so that your peers might benefit from using similar strategies.
40. Approximately what percentage of the students attending your college were born abroad (including foreign students as well as immigrants)?
41. Approximately what percentage of the students that started as freshman or transferees into your college in the past year would you say need special help or assistance in reading, writing, or pronouncing the English language in order to have a good chance at being effective college students?
